

THE INFORMER

* * * * * AUGUST 3, 1979 * * * * *

This memo contains news, information, announcements, events, rumours, scandalous gossip, lurid speculation,....

* * * * * VOLUME I No.8 * * * * *

BROWNIE POINTS, GOLD STARS, MEDALS, ACCLAMATIONS AND GOOD VIBES to Financial Aid for recognizing our existence and sending us a Tip sheet. At last someone knows we're here!

----- NEWS * NEWS * NEWS * NEWS -----

CKVU has really been having doses of Capilano College lately. First it was Donna McLaren with her pottery, then Brian White discussing avalanches on Mt. Vancouver and now D.J. Muzzillo. D.J. will be promoting his Hawaiian backpacking adventures which are coming up this fall -- Kauai: A Backpacking Adventure and Maui: From Above the Clouds to Below the Sea. Community Ed has the brochures printed up now if you're interested.

Things are busy up at the Bookstore right now, where they're moving furniture around like mad and reorganizing everything to be ready in time for the Great Rush (ominous drum roll). This year all operations will be in the Bookstore itself, instead of expanding to ND, and a new system will be in use. Just as long as it works...

Financial Aid has some more Money Management workshops in store. Tuesday August 14 and Tuesday August 21 from 9 to 10:45 a.m. in NF102 there will be workshops on Credit and Budgeting. Guest speakers will be from the Department of Consumer Affairs and the North Shore Credit Union. Free.

Also down at Financial Aid is a new receptionist. Jean Grove will be working there from 9:00 - 1:00 weekdays and you can even talk to her in person by dialing 297.

The Capilano Review is looking for subscriptions. What else is new, you may ask. Well this, they have lost their foundation grant of $2000 a year (which they've been depending on for five years) and now they have to go it alone--they need support.

----- FURTHERMORE -----

In case you hadn't noticed lately, our Art department at the college is full of extremely talented individuals. Wayne Eastcott, for instance, managed to while away some of his summer vacation by having an exhibition of his prints in Tokyo in June. If the exhibit was half as impressive as the program from it we have here, it must have shaken up Japan's printmakers a bit.

Meanwhile, Steven Leskard (instructor of painting, drawing and design) will be having his own exhibit here in Vancouver at the Federation Gallery (367 Water St.) from August 14 - 25. If you're in Gastown, remember to drop in for a look.

Rikki Lucas has more students than places to put them. Housing is hard to find, expensive and landlords have a built-in suspicion of students. If you know of any not exorbitant nearby rooms, houses or apartments empty Sept. 1, contact her at 277.

Neil Chester got a rather unpleasant surprise Monday morning when it was discovered that the large plate glass window by his desk had fallen (been pushed?) in, scattering glass all over the floor and his desk. Every cloud has its silver lining, though... It seems that the ghastly old curtains that no one's been able to get replaced were torn. Awww....